RUIN BY RAINS.

Old Probs Considerably Astonished at the Downpour

Rain is a very nice thing in its way, but when it descends upon Pittsburgers 17 out of 19 days in June; when the male population has to arm itself with umbrellas to the total exclusion of canes, and when the ladies take to wearing waterproots and mackintoshes, it will occur to the average citizen that the weather clerk is having altogether too much fun with the wet Weather has been of the profoundest importance during the month of May and in June down to date on account of the Johnstown disaster, the damage to Western Pennsylvania crops, and last, but not least, that City Hall bugaboo, the Red Pond, of Soho. A resume of the weather features during the last month and a half must, therefore, prove of absorbing interest to the readers of THE DISPATCH. FILING A PROTEST AGAINST WETNESS.

In the hope that an indignant protest would in a measure curtail the amiable propensity to humidity in the atmosphere that has distinguished the Signal Service of late, a DISPATCH representative ascended yesterday to the den in which Pittsburg weather is doled out, and catechised Observer O. D. Stewart in regard to Old Probs, past, present and future.

Mr. Stewart had just received a polite little missive from General Greely which contained a modest request for a full hydrostatic account have been to a degree overlooked: but the of the Johnstown disaster. The urbane ob rapid manner in which the great trunk line server groaned in spirit but resignedly re-marked that whatever General Greely said universal subject of comment. "went," and that the report would be im-mediately prepared, altough the work involved the observations of preceding years, the figures required by THE DISPATCH were very obligingly furnished by Mr. Stewart.

In the last three recurrences of the mouth the last two days were marked by rainfall, the last day of May, 1889, showing a very heavy fall, although nothing to compare very heavy fall, although nothing to compare with the precipitation at the same time in Johnstown, the day of the flood.

The above table shows that out of 19 days in the present month it has rained all but two, and by reference to the following table it will be seen that 19 days of June, 1889, show up a total of rainfall .49 inches above the general average of the whole month—3.61—during the foregoing 19 years. What the rest of the month will do may well be regarded as a subject of serious conjecture.

THE JUNE AVERAGE FOR 19 YEARS.

GENERAL STATISTICS OF INTEREST.

"This has been a very wet year so far," said Mr. Stewart. "The general average of annual rainfall in 18 years past is 16,20 inches. Since January I 20,57 inches have fallen. You will see that the first six months of the current year have exceeded the yearly average 4.37 inches. It bids fair to be the wettest year on record, although at the end of June, 1887, 1883 and 1882, more rain had failen than up to the present time in this year. In 1871 the amount of minfall here was eight inches less than average of the succeeding 18 years. We had inside of 24 hours on the evening of last May 16 and the morning of May 11 an extraordinary precipitation, 2.95 inches, and at one time the rainfall exceeded an inch an hour. That this was an unusual occurrence, the following table of days upon which the rainfall exceeded 2½ inches inside of 24 hours will show. The computation covers a period of 18 years: year have exceeded the yearly average 4.37

"We don't and can't indulge in long range predictions, and experience proves that the hit or miss prophets who obtain a momentary no-toriety by a successful forecast—which is only another name for fool luck at guessing—finally lay down beaten by Old Probs. We nave made chances of abnormal rainfall for the balance of the summer, I can only say that the tendency has been to conform to a general average in past years, and you see that the figures are now far beyond the usual annual rainfall, and it is far more probable than otherwise that there will be a deflecency during the balance of the year. It does not follow neces-sarily that this will be the wettest year on record because we have had so much rain al-ready. Our indications? No further ahead than 24 hours."

Mr. John R. Murdoch, of the well-known florists firm, was asked yesterday to give his opinion as to the likelihood of danger to growing crops by the excessive rainfall of the last 50 days. Mr. Murdoch said: "Unless dry weather comes within a week, the effect will be disastrous on growing crops, vegetables and flowers. Fruits are already rendered tasteless and insipid by the lack of sunshine and excess of moisture. The aroma of Western Pennsylvania berries is absent. Potatoes are rotting in the ground, and cabbages are sadly affected with bugs, and the beauty of the flowers has been all washed out. Roses open prematurely and rot quickly, and seeds do not germinate properly. Only lately grass seed has pickel up a little. It is too early to judge what the effect will be on grapes and apples. Cercal crops are in great danger of rust, and corn suffers by lack of cultivation. Plants enjoy a modicum of water, but can get a surfeit very easily. I think that agriculture in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio is going to suffer by the thousands of dollars unless the wet weather ceases within a week. As it is a great deal of damage has

Railway Reconstruction That Beats All Records-The Pennsy's Work Beyond

All Ordinary Comprehension, Owing to the fearful loss of life in the Cone maugh Valley, the enormous losses of the railuniversal subject of comment.

During the first few days of the flood Superintendent Miller, of the Panhandle, estimated in its preparation would be very severe. As to comparisons between the present wet spell and at $20,000,000: but these figures have been materially reduced.

Not only did this road suffer between Johns town and Lilly in the mountains, but nearly every bridge in the Susquehanna and Juniata valleys was washed away. The writer has been over the main line to Harrisburg, and the Northern Central to Renovo, and can speak from observation. Scarcely a week had elapsed after the flood when the Pennsylvania was running its trains over the Allegheny Valley and the Philadelphia and Eric. The most serious break in this line was the bridge over the Susquebanna at Montgomery, which had been washed away. Vice President Frank Thompson personally superintended the construction of the temporary structure at this place.

In the same rapid way temporary bridges rary structure at this place.

In the same rapid way temporary bridges were built through the Juniata Valley. Where the road had been washed out the rails were replaced in remarkably quick time.

But it was between Johnstown and South Fork, of course, that the most serious damage was wrought. Scarcely a vestige of the road remained. The big viaduct near South Fork was a perfect wreck, and here is where the most wonderful piece of engineering was accomplished. The timbers for the trestle were cut all along the road and soon put in. The bridge as it stands now is 85 feet high, with a yawning chasm below. It is constructed of a curve, and is marveled at by everybody who sees it.

The Pennsylvania officials have prescitedly.

Colonel Thomas E. Watt did gallant service in caring for the living.

Colonel Watt is still out on the road. He announced yesterday that the Chicago Limited would be resumed next Monday. Between Altoona and Harrisburg the trains are almost able to make schedule time. Between Altoona and Pittsburg the trains lose a few hours; but they keep moving. Seldom are they held for any great length of time, It will be a long time before the world will witness such rapid railroad building as the Pennsylvania has recently accomplished.

Democrats and Independents Got a Bulge

on Council Elections. Though covering less area, the contests for Council seats made vacant by resignation, and alluded to in brief results yesterday, were not less exciting than those to determine whether the State should be wet or dry. Dr. Barchfield is said to be the happiest man in the Twenty-sixth ward. The doctor thinks he hasn't had a fair show in politics, and so decided to rejoice with them who rejoice. Various reasons are assigned for Mr. William Bradley's defeat.

assigned for Mr. William Bradley's defeat. One is that his brother, the prothonotary, gave the contract to build a house to people who were not en rapport with the trades, and this contributed. Generally speaking, the result was unexpected. Bradley's vote was 572, and Herman F. Steinecke's 607. The election was to fill the vacancy in Common Council caused by Ruhlandt's resignation.

A. T. Watson, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, was esected to Select Council to fill the vacancy caused by M. D. Dwyer's resignation. Watson got 142 votes to 88 for Simon Garrard, Republican,

In the Second ward Mr. Getty's place was filled by the election of John McMasters King, Republican, over Robert J. Hemingray, Independent, by a vote of 422 to 227.

In the Fifth ward, John C. Rellly, Democrat, had a walkover, laying out his opponent, M. J. Price, more than two to one.

ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES LAST NIGHT.

The Lutheran Synod was mainly occupied yesterday in the discussion of educational mat-ters. General Secretary Rev. M. F. Troxell read the biennial report of the Board of Educa-tion, and Rev. Dysinger, President of Carthage College, Illinois, gave a statement of the status of that institution. Hon. Amos Miller, of Hillsboro, Ill., reported that the Board of Education had acquired during the past two years property worth over $60,000. This in-cludes a gift of 25 acres of college grounds and building lots at Atchison, Kan.; the Midland College, buildings and appurtenances and the academy grounds at Wayne, Neb. and a cultivated farm in Kansas.

The resolutions recommended by the Board of Education were considered, and some of them energetically debated. Rev. F. W. Conrad, D. D., of Philadelphia, urged the formative power of academies and colleges to raise up Christian teachers, and held that the church ought to outstrip the munificence of State and friends of secular education to furnish cham-pions of the faith to wrestle with educated tion in attending its meetings during 1888 and 1889, and it was decided that expenses be hereafter paid by the Board. The Treasurer was authorized to borrow $500, the amount of these expenses, from the Board of Publication.

The Synod ratified the official acts of the Board of Education.

Dr. Orth wanted to know the relation sustained by the Board of Trustees of Midland College toward the Board of Education, and which board had control of the college property. Dr. Rhoades replied that the Board of Education could not transfer the property to the Board of Trustees until the college was thoroughly established, and that it was not the thoroughly established, and that it was not the intent of the Board of Education to hold the property permanently. The people of Atchi-son, Kan., had subscribed over $50,000 to the

Dr. Rhoades said the Nebraska Synod had donated seven acres of land and a $5,000 building for the academy. The property is to be deeded to the General Synod after ten years. In return the Synod is to sustain the academ

President Dysinger, of Carthage College asked for $4,000 to help clear away a debt of $8,000. The request was granted. President Dysinger stated that the college property was valued at over $30,000. It has over 100 pupils and has graduated over 30 ministers during a few years past.

At the evening session the Rev. J. S. Detweller, D. D., of Omaha, Neb., delivered an address on "The Christian College." Among other things he said:

A corps of teachers working for Christ is great endowment. The Bible should not be at optional study, but should be necessary for graduation. The aim of the Board of Education is to organize the scattered educational forces we possess. With this organization we will make great progress in the next 25 years.
